Section 3:

We build companions, not gadgets.

A gadget waits to be told what to do. A companion starts the conversation. Lumi asks your child a question, listens to the answer, then asks the next one. That back and forth is how your child learns to think.

Lumi listens and answers. It remembers what your child said last time. Your child feels known, not managed.

Lumi plays like a toy and teaches like a tutor. Your child will only notice the friend.

Must be about the concept and how it works?

Main Text:

1. Change We build companions, not gadgets to ->Play, Learn Together

Replace it with:

The "How It Works" Sequence

- Goal: Explain product behavior and adaptive learning. With a small flow chart
- Step 1: Talk & Play: Kids ask Questions, play word games, or listen to interactive stories in their Language.
- Step 2: Adaptive Memory: Lumi's remembers the child's vocabulary level, learning, and Speed of learning.
- Step 3: Real-World Knowledge: Teaches concepts through everyday conversation rather than forced drills.
- And repeats the process again.

Section 5: What parents say about the product.

FROM THE PILOT FAMILIES

The first families are already talking.

“

The first thing she does after school is tell Lumi about her day. I listen from the kitchen and learn things she forgets to tell me.

Shweta
PILOT PARENT

“

It sings the same rhymes my mother sang to me, and then it asks him questions about them. He answers before I can.

Priyamvada

We wanted less screen time without a fight. This is the first thing that worked without one.

Section: PlayOS page needs a bit more technical and more on the vision side PlayOS is going to change the world for kids sort of. The focus for PlayOS page is for VC we are going to reach out, to convince our MOAT, our vision, etc.

You can create (don't use this image as it is) this image with micro interaction, when someone moves their cursor to it, the can show details, or grow big or something. Reduce the length of this page.

Section: When looking at the website all in together, there is a feeling too much content less value.

My comment, look at all sections, which will go where, can we slimdown some section, put link to other section, etc etc. You need to think deep as a CMO from a customer perspective and then decide.
